Mobile Teacher Group to Merge

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Members of the white and Negro Mobile County teacher associations have voted to merge their organizations.
The white Mobile Education Association voted overwhelmingly for the proposal Wednesday. The vote of the predominantly Negro Mobile County Teachers Association was unanimous.
The combined Mobile city-county school system is the largest in Alabama with approximately 2,600 teachers and 75,000 pupils.

Wants Faubus as Analyst

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Television station KTHV said Wednesday that it is trying to hire former Gov. Orval E. Faubus as a political analyst for primary and general election night reporting.
B. G. Robertson, general manager of the station, said Robert Trout, a former Faubus aide, would visit Faubus today at Ozark to "firm everything up."
Faubus, who did not seek re-election in 1966, is living at Ozark and editing the Ozark Spectator, one of his weekly newspapers.

Bill Gives Consumer Chance to Know How Much Interest He Pays

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — An eight-year Capitol Hill battle to enact a landmark cost-of-credit disclosure bill is within three steps of what President Johnson termed "a great victory for the American consumer."
Senate-House conferees
reached final agreement Wednesday, after weeks of work, on a compromise measure requiring that most borrowers be told the dollar-and-cents
cost of credit on loans and purchases.
It's estimated the bill would cover approximately $100 billion annually, on installment purchases, loans and other credit deals.
Sponsors said there is no question the House and Senate will approve the compromise version of the bill, probably next week.
Johnson left no doubt that the third remaining step, his signature on the legislation, would follow quickly.
He called it a long-overdue,
"strong truth-in-lending" bill.
Under the measure those sex-tending credit or making consumer loans would have to disclose two things on most transactions:
— The annual interest rate figured on the declining balance of the obligation.
— The total cost of credit in dollars and cents over its full life.
The battle for the legislation began in 1960 when it first was introduced by former Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill.
It finally was passed 92 to 0
last July 11 by the Senate, and 382 to 4 on Feb. 1 this year by the House.
But the House added a number of provisions to the measure and this led to a long-drawn-out conference. Most of the House items were retained in the final version but several were revised.
One of the knottiest problems involved revolving credit, which has become increasingly popular with retail chain stores.
The chains contended it was very hard to figure an accurate annual interest charge on such accounts.
The Senate voted to allow them to state only the monthly interest rate, often 1½ per cent.
But the House insisted on an annual rate which would be 18 per cent if the monthly charge were 1½ per cent.
Under the compromise, the store would have to give both of these but could also state, if it chose, an effective rate based on its annual yield from such business. This would normally be less than the 18 percent.
Also, a minimum revolving credit charge of 50 cents a month or less would not have to be used as the basis for the interest disclosure.

Will Retire After 30 Years of Teaching

May 24, 1968 will end the teaching career of one of Hem-stead County's well-known first grade teachers. Mrs. O. H. Bristow (the former Edna Delaney), plans to retire at the end of this school term after teaching in the Guernsey School System continuously for thirty years.
Mrs. Bristow was born and reared in Columbus, Arkansas and completed her high school education there. As a senior in high school, she vowed she would never teach school, but the very next year she took a teacher's examination and was issued a license to teach.
Her first school was at Yellow Creek, a country school located between Columbus and Mc-Nab. She taught two years at Buck Range in Howard County and two years at Old Liberty School. After Old Liberty consolidated with Columbus, she taught there one year. The remainder of her teaching years has been at Guernsey. In one or two families, she has taught the third generation.
Mrs. Bristow received her
ESE degree from Henderson
State College after many years of teaching school in the winter and going to school in the summer.
During her years of teaching,
she has encountered various experiences—she has ridden a horse to school; she has coached girls' basketball; and, at one time, the school house was destroyed by fire.
Mrs. Bristow lives with her husband, a retired barber, on West Fifth Street in Hope. They are the parents of one son, James Herbert, who lives in DeQueen.
They also have one grandson.
"Miss Edna's" plans for the future included fishing in the ponds on their farm and spending some leisure time with her grandson.
The Guernsey PTA will have a reception honoring Mrs. Bristow in the Guernsey School auditorium on Sunday, May 20 from 2:00 until 4:00 p.m. All students and their parents, teachers, school board personnel, and friends who have been associated with Mrs.
Bristow during her teaching career, are invited to come and visit with her at this time.

staller's rivet gun pierced a

Wednesday and struck factory worker Carmen Rharries in the en route to a hospital.

Won't Push Constitution Meet Now

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The
chairman of a citizens committee promoting a constitutional convention in Arkansas said Wednesday that the committee would not begin its big push until after the party primaries.
Raymond Rebsamen of Little Rock said he had been busy getting key supporters lined up in all 75 counties.
Rebsamen, chairman of Arkansas for a Revised Constitution (ARC), said one reason he has been holding back was that the convention question probably will appear in the special legislative session will start Monday.
Convention supporters want the present law changed to hold a special election in the fall of 1969 to vote on the document that the delegates to a convention will prepare. The law presently calls for a vote in the 1970 general election.

Would Endorse Drinks Ruling

LITTLE ROCK (AP)— State
Rep. Roscoe D. Brown of Jonesboro asked the Arkansas Legislative Council Wednesday to endorse Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell's ruling that mixed drinks cannot be sold in Arkansas.
Brown said the state Alcoholic Beverage Control Board should "be rebuked" for disregarding
the attorney general's opinion and issuing 28 permits to private clubs to dispense mixed drinks.

Guns by Mail Amendment Is Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate rejected today a crime bill amendment that would have banned interstate mail-order
sales of shotguns and rifles.
The vote was 53 to 29.
The amendment was offered by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., whose brother, President John F. Kennedy, was assassinated with a mail-order rifle. It was a key part of the firearms control legislation urged by President Johnson.
The bill itself would prohibit interstate mail-order sales of handguns and ban over-the-counter handgun sales to non-residents of a state and to persons under 21.
Kennedy had contended failure to include shotguns and rifles in the mail-order ban would leave "a loophole for death and destruction."
The Massachusetts Democrat referred to the Nov. 22, 1963 assassination and to the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., last month as he told the Senate
Wednesday:
"It is the rifle that has been the tool of vicious assassins who have brought us national trage-

Thursday, May 16, 1968
dy and international shame,"
And discussing slum riots, he added:
"It is the sniper's rifle, with its long-range and deadly accuracy, which throws fear into the policeman and the fireman who must deal with the violent upheavals which have plagued our cities."
The bill would also prohibit over-the-counter gun sales to nonresidents of a state and to persons under 21, tighten import restrictions, put new curbs on sales of such devices as mortars and bazookas and establish tougher standards and higher fees for licensing manufacturers, importers and dealers.

Bees Ordered Not to Buzz

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif.

signed Wednesday by Superior Court Commissioner James P.
Natoli. Caballero, 77, complained the bees living in the yard of his neighbor crossed over property lines.

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us! it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper.

COLUMNIST GETS CLIPPED FOR ANSWER TO "CLIPPED WINGS"
Dear Helen: How unfair can you get?

Your sin of omission is glaring when you let kids get away with saying "The airline company told us the union won't let us wash their jet for a money-raising project."

The airline owns the place, not the union. It also hires the ground crew. So it would be paying double if it hired high school students to wash a jet.

The union is made up of fathers, who need their job washing airplanes so they can put food on the table and a roof over their teen-agers' heads.

A jet plane is worth millions and no airline is going to turn a bunch of kids loose on one. Part of this plane is four stories high.

The insurance premiums would be terrific.

You are like most of the daily press, letting your anti-union bias over-rule an otherwise good feature, R.E.B.

Dear R: Ten lashes with my typewriter ribbon duly administered.

There was a lot of talk about secrets and people all along and finally we were allowed to learn our hero's.

It seems that as a young soldier on furlough he had spent a 10-day furlough with an actress having the same name as the defendant in the assault case, and he feared it was the same woman and that the son was his.

Arthur Hills played the unhappy husband as a rather remote but good and responsible man. Barbara Bel Geddes, as the wife, portrayed her from the outset as a rather outgoing nosy type interested in everybody around her including the neighbors.

tered. I'm more uninformed than anti-union—and I STILL think the idea had class, even though it was unworkable. — H

Dear Helen: "Clipped Wings" asked for suggestions on money-raising ideas for teen organizations.

Last year one of our high school classes sponsored a stag "battle of the bands" dance. It was a blast and just about everyone came because they didn't need a date or corsage or special clothes.

Each year our senior class gives midnight shows, usually horror pictures. They bring in pretty good money.

Another idea: A student-faculty basketball game, or maybe a powderpuff football game. We charge a small admission, and sell food during the game.

The FTA each year gets blank telegrams and the students, for 10 cents each, send lovegrams on Valentines Day.

I don't know how it would go, but how about a street dance? — FROM SAN MARCOS, TEXAS

Dear Helen: At our school, they declared a "Class Work Day" in the spring. The high school was headquarters and two people were on duty to take phone calls. The kids did everything from baby-sitting to raking leaves. They washed windows, ran errands, even shopped for elderly people. They took down storm windows and put up screens, girls working right along with the boys, at hourly rates.

The "Work Day" was well advertised with signs in stores and banks, plus write-ups in newspapers. After the first year people began asking, "When is Work Day? We're waiting for it."

The students worked from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m., and some of the parents provided food and soft drinks to workers checking in between jobs.

Then we had sales of all kinds. We even had a basket we passed from door to door with baked or canned goods in it. As it reached your house, you took out what you wanted, put in what cash you figured it was worth, and added an item of your own choosing, if you wished. — ILLINOIS

Dear Helen: How about a paper drive to raise money? There are scrap paper companies in most large towns—look in the phone directory. All you need is a pickup truck, strong backs, and ambition. And home-owners love you for it! — CALIFORNIA

P.S. Why don't you ask the kids for more ideas and put them in a newsletter?

(Good idea—how about it, gang? — H.)

and use it as a conference room to cook up family plots against me.

Our cat, Lady Dottle, now also has her box in my bathroom. Where else? Believe me, friend, you may have had trouble in your life, but you don't know what trouble is until, on a harried Monday morning, you rush into a stall shower and stub your toe on a steel pan full of moist cat gravel.

Now, when someone knocks on my bathroom door, I never know whether it'll be a member of the family, a visiting Elk, the neighborhood scissors grinder, or a kid selling Girl Scout cookies.

But whoever it is, each asks the same thing in a tone of complaint and accusation: "What are you doing in there?"

What am I doing in there? I'm doing what those diplomats are doing in Paris. Just trying to find a little peace.

Lack of Cash Could Halt Poor March

By AUSTIN SCOTT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Some organizers of the Poor People's Campaign say it is as penniless as the thousands of destitute people it is bringing to Washington.
"If we don't get more money, we'll have to stop construction," said the Rev. Bernard Lafayette, campaign coordinator. But he didn't say when.
Lafayette placed the cost of building "Resurrection City U. S. A.," now about one-third completed on the Mall near the Lincoln Memorial, at about $3 million. He wouldn't say how much had been spent, but claimed a $100,000 reserve fund is "just about exhausted."
But construction of the shanties seemed to continue at a rapid pace with no evident shortage of building materials. Some staff members said privately they were not aware money was a serious problem.
"The Southern Christian Leadership Conference has been on the verge of going broke since it was founded," one said. Lafayette himself predicted that despite financial problems, the city would be finished.
"We have faith in the American people to help us fulfill this dream," he said.
About 70 senators and House members held a 90-minute meeting Wednesday with the SCLC leader, the Rev. Ralph Abernathy, and his top aides. Participants who commented called it very helpful.
Afterward Sens. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., and Rep. Ogden R. Reid, R-N.Y., drew up the framework for a 15 to 17-man House-Senate committee to meet with the protest leaders and mold specific programs.
Abernathy set no price on his broad goals of more jobs, better housing and an end to poverty. Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said private speculation ranged as high as $30 billion.
Abernathy said he was encouraged and added Congress

Record High for War Dead in a Week

SAIGON (AP) — The number of Americans killed in action last week in the Vietnam war jumped to a record high of 562, the U.S. Command reported today.
The previous record for a seven-day period was 543 Americans killed during the week of Feb. 11-17, at the height of the Communists' lunar new year offensive against cities and towns throughout the country.
Last week the enemy waged a second offensive, with only Saigon as the major target. While the U.S. Command said it was of much less intensity than the assault on the capital in February, it reported that much of the enemy force assigned to attack Saigon was intercepted by American and allied forces outside the city.
There was no immediate official explanation for the high American toll last week.
The U.S. Command said 5,552 enemy were killed last week, more than half of them in the fighting in and around Saigon. The command said this raised the total killed by allied forces since Jan. 1, 1961, to 342,105.
South Vietnamese headquarters reported 675 government troops killed last week, their third highest weekly toll of the war. The week before 242 South Vietnamese were reported killed, while the U.S. toll was 383 dead.
A total of 2,225 Americans were wounded in action last week, a figure that has been exceeded several times during the war. Of that number, 1,153 required hospitalization, the U.S. Command said. The week before 1,501 American wounded were reported.
The number of enemy dead reported last week was not a record. During the February campaign, the U.S. and South Vietnamese Commands reported more than 15,000 enemy killed in one week.

Tornado That Hit Jonesboro Is Described

By JOHN TROUTT JR.,
Jonesboro Sun
JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Everything looked windblown, but normal, driving along Main Street in suburban Nettleton. Red lights were flashing on Willow Road. Then you turned. Suddenly downed wires across the road block your path. Rain is beating down and it is 10:10 p.m., minutes after a killer tornado struck.
A policeman is telling some shivering people with blankets around their shoulders and no clothes underneath, that an ambulance will be along in a few minutes.
Somebody runs up and says, "There are some bad hurt over here. Others come carrying injured."
You give a man the keys to your car and tell him to take the injured to the hospital, then hitch rides with the police.
A call comes in that there are dead and seriously hurt farther down Willow Road, but the path is blocked by wires and fallen trees.
A policeman decides to go around by Pankah Road and you get a ride with him. The officer heads down Race Street past the Nettleton Elementary School, which is a mass of rubble.
Turn at Higgins Service Station, somebody says, but there is no Higgins Service Station, just a pile of bricks.

People are standing around in the rain, blood dripping from their faces. Ambulances come with sirens screaming.
Somebody shouts, "There's a man alive over here." People go over to lift splintered timbers off of him.
Rescue workers come carrying a dead woman to an ambulance.
The downpour continues. Water is everywhere.
Mayor Neil Stallings comes and sets out to check houses for injured, wading in knee deep water. A number of young men, probably students at Arkansas State University, have arrived and are moving through the maze of broken wires and splintered timbers.
"We need men over here," one of them shouts. "There's a man under this house."
About 20 people materialize and they lift the rubble off the man, who was still alive.
A stretcher is brought up and he is carried to a waiting ambulance.
Trees are across the road as you walk with the rescue workers. Suddenly you see a body in the middle of the street and another stretcher is brought up. Volunteers keep moving into the stricken area. There are still living to be found.
Rain begins coming down in sheets. It's 11:30 p.m.
You hitch a ride in an ambulance headed toward downtown

Antipoverty Program in All Counties

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Glen L. Jermstad, director of the state Office of Economic Opportunity, said Wednesday that Arkansas' antipoverty program will be reorganized to include all 75 counties by next February.
Existing community action agencies, which serve 48 counties, will be expanded into 16 districts to cover the state.
The plan is similar to one proposed by Jermstad in January and rejected in March by the federal OEO. The new plan would permit each of the 16 districts to administer its own federal grants. The old plan provided for the state OEO office to disburse all funds.
The original plan had the support of Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller but it was opposed by almost all of the community action agency directors in the state.
The new plan will be carried out in two phases. First all funded antipoverty agencies which serve fewer than 50,000 persons will be consolidated into larger agencies. The second phase will bring in counties which have no program at present.
Brazil is larger in area than the United States.

Card Player Makes Like Mighty Babe

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Julian Javier will never be mistaken for Babe Ruth...but the slender St. Louis Cardinal is the Sultan of Swat today in the starry eyes of a McKeesport, Pa., youngster.

Javier borrowed a page from the Ruth legend Wednesday night after a hospital visit to 6-year-old Mark Sandusky, whose legs were crushed in a recent automobile accident.

The boy, who might never walk normally again according to his doctors, asked Javier to hit a home run for him in the Cardinals' game at Pittsburgh.

Javier obliged in the fourth inning, slamming his first home run of the season to back Steve Carlton's four-hit pitching and give the Cardinals their second successive 1-0 victory over the Pirates.

"I wasn't thinking about it," Javier said afterward. "But when I was running around the bases, I thought, 'Look what I did!'"

The Chicago Cubs caught Los Angeles from behind 5-3, Cincinnati trimmed the New York Mets 3-0 and San Francisco topped Houston 7-3 in other action. The Atlanta-Philadelphia game was rained out.

In the American League, Baltimore slugged Detroit 10-8, California beat the Chicago White Sox 4-2 at Milwaukee, Boston downed Washington 6-4 and the New York Yankees played Cleveland to a 2-2, rain-curtained standoff. The Oakland-Minnesota game was washed out by rain.

Javier, the Cardinals' slick-fielding second baseman, hit Steve Blass' first pitch in the fourth inning into the light tower next to the left field scoreboard at Forbes Field.

Carlton held Pittsburgh hitless until the fifth and nursed the one-run edge all the way for his fourth victory against one loss. The tall southpaw struck out six and allowed only one runner to reach second base.

Dick Nen, a former Dodger, beat his old teammates with a two-run pinch hit single in the ninth, capping a three-run Chicago rally. Nen delivered the winning hit after Randy Hundley's run-scoring single tied the game.

Losing pitcher Jim Grant checked the Cubs on five hits until the ninth and slugged his first National League homer, a two-run shot in the third. Ernie Banks tied it with a two-run double in the fourth, but committed a seventh-inning throwing error before Wes Parker's sacrifice fly sent the Dodgers in front 3-2.

George Culver blanked the Mets on seven hits and the Reds, who had dropped six of their previous seven starts, pounded loser Jerry Koosman and two relievers for 13.

The first of Tommy Helms' three singles drove in the only run Culver needed in the Reds' two-run second inning. Vada Pinson scored the second run on a single by Leo Cardenas and doubled another run home in the eighth.

Willie Mays' 571st career homer—a two-run blast in the first inning—triggered San Francisco's victory over the Astros. With Ollie Brown's two-run single keying a four-run burst in the sixth, the Giants built the lead to 7-0 before Doug Rader hit a three-run homer for Houston in the seventh.

Gaylord Perry picked up his fourth victory against two setbacks, but needed ninth-inning help from Frank Linzy as the Giants beat the Astros for the 31st time in their last 34 meetings at Candlestick Park.

Trainer of Dancer Is Suspended

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
BALTIMORE (AP) — Peter Fuller entered Dancer's Image, who was disqualified as winner of the Kentucky Derby, in the $150,000-added Preakness today.

Fuller entered the gray son of Native Dancer at 9:44 a.m., EDT, 16 minutes before the deadline for entries in Saturday's running of the second jewel of racing's Triple Crown.

The entry of Dancer's Image came after Fuller had consulted by telephone with suspended trainer Lou Cavalieri.

Stewards of Churchill Downs in Louisville suspended Cavalieri Wednesday night in a decision which affirmed the disqualification and gave the Derby's winning purse of $122,600 to the second place horse, Forward Pass.

Before the hearing began earlier this week, Fuller had said Dancer's Image would not run in the second jewel of the Triple Crown at Pimlico if Cavalieri was suspended. But Cavalieri has urged all the while that the colt run, no matter what his status as a trainer.

The three stewards indicated further investigation was merited and referred the matter to the Kentucky Racing Commission.

Fuller said he would appeal the decision to the commission in hope that Cavalieri would be able to train Dancer's Image during the course of his suspension.

After meeting nearly 48 hours behind locked doors, the stewards announced that Cavalieri and Barnard were forbidden to enter any race track through June 13.

They also officially announced that Dancer's Image, who finished first in the Derby by 1 1/2 lengths over Calumet Farm's Forward Pass, was disqualified and placed last.

This made Forward Pass the Derby winner, gave the first money of $122,600 to Calumet Farm, and gave the colt a shot at becoming the first Triple Crown winner since Citation added a Belmont Stakes triumph to Derby and Preakness victories.

The investigation started when a post-Derby test disclosed a trace of phenylbutazone, or a derivative of the analgesic, in the routine urine sample taken after the Derby.

Young Santiago Guzman shut out San Antonio on six hits Wednesday night as the Arkansas Travelers took a 5-0 Texas League victory over the Missions at San Antonio.

Arkansas moved into second place as the 18-year-old Guzman recorded his third victory. He has lost twice.

Memphis pitcher Steve Renko survived a three-run rally in the third inning and the Blues went on to collect a 6-3 triumph over Amarillo at Amarillo.

In other Texas League games, visiting Albuquerque tripped Dallas - Fort Worth 8-1 and Shreveport lost to El Paso 4-2 at Shreveport.

Milwaukee Turns Out for Chisox

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Chicago White Sox brought major league baseball back to Milwaukee and got a wet reception from the weatherman, an impartial one from the fans and a beating from the California Angels. Only the size of the crowd—23,510—made the trip worthwhile.

After all, it was the size of the crowds in Chicago—the largest has been 11,546 this season—that prompted the Sox to schedule nine regular season games in Milwaukee, the first there since the Braves moved in 1965.

The White Sox themselves, however, failed to impress. Most of the fans sat through the rain that began in the early innings and the 29-minute delay in the eighth to see Paul Schaul single home two runs in that inning and give the Angels a 4-2 victory over Chicago.

The weather played a part in reducing the rest of the American League schedule as only two other games were completed—Baltimore outslugged Detroit 10-8 and Boston held off Washington 6-4.

The Oakland game at Minnesota was rained out as was the New York game at Cleveland where the Yankees and Indians were tied 2-2 after 7 1/2 innings.

In the National League, Atlanta was rained out at Philadelphia, but St. Louis stopped Pittsburgh 1-0, San Francisco downed Houston 7-3, Cincinnati blanked the New York Mets 3-0 and the Chicago Cubs overcame Los Angeles 5-3.

The crowd at Milwaukee quiet compared to the howling followers of the Braves, watched curiously as the Sox and Angels battled through seven innings tied 1-1.

Only Rick Reichardt, a college star at the University of Wisconsin, got a big hand from the fans, 45 of them his relatives and friends.

The players couldn't tell either from the crowd reaction who was the home team, and the Angels aroused some enthusiasm when they loaded the bases with none out against Bob Locker on Bob Rodgers' single, a double by Bobby Knoop and an intentional walk. Then came the delay, then came reliever Wilbur Wood then came Schaul and there went Chicago's hopes for a victory.

Chuck Hinton of California and Tom McCraw of the Sox traded homers in the ninth inning for the final score.

The backers of the game were delighted at the turnout, considering the tornado warnings in the area until 6 p.m., the rain and local television of the game.

The crowd in Detroit had plenty to keep it excited until the last out despite three-run homers by Boog Powell and pinch hitter Curt Motton of the Orioles and solo shots by teammates Elrod Hendricks and Dave Johnson.

A two-run homer by Mickey Stanley, a solo blast by Norm Cash, two triples by Dick McAuliffe and one by Al Kaline kept the Tigers in the game until Motton unloaded in the eighth for a 10-6 lead.

Detroit loaded the bases in the ninth with none out, but got only two runs in a vain attempt to save Denny McLain his first loss after five complete game victories. Baltimore instead ended its seven-game losing streak.

Jose Santiago gave up a two-run homer to Frank Howard, his 12th, and a solo clout by Ken McMullen in the first inning, but settled down and stopped Washington until the ninth while his Boston teammates overtook the Senators.

When Frank Coggins' double and a single by Bernie Allen scored a Washington run in the ninth, Sparky Lyle came on to get the last out and raise Santiago's record to 5-1.

The Yankees tied their game when Joe Pepitone doubled and Dick Howser hit a pinch single in the seventh inning before rain washed out their game with Cleveland. The records count, but the entire game will be replayed.

Negro Grid Players Want to Run Team

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Negro football candidates at the University of California are boycotting spring practice, demanding the right to say who should play which position and when.

Coach Ray Willsey silently read their demands, presented by one athlete and one student non-athlete, declined them, and handed back the paper.

"I do not believe these prerogatives of a coach are negotiable," he said. "I cannot ignore my responsibilities."

He refused to give details of the demands.

He also refused to name any of the athletes.

"I will not initiate any name calling," he said today. "I don't want to appear to the public to be exposing them to criticism."

He said in a statement: "It will be a tragedy that competition will be denied to some outstanding young men because of their actions."

"These men, by not reporting for practice, are, in effect, removing themselves from the California football team."

Willsey said he has no idea when or if the Negroes will return. Football practice ends Saturday.

Pressed for a count, Willsey said 14 were out for spring drills and every one played in last Saturday's alumni game.

He said five or six were lettermen.

Most of the 14 missed Tuesday drills and all boycotted Wednesday's.

NEW YORK (AP) — A heavyweight title fight was all set today between five-star champion Joe Frazier of Philadelphia and Manuel Ramos, the Mexican titleholder, for Madison Square Garden Monday night, June 24.

Official announcement of the bout was expected to be made this morning at a Boxing Writers' breakfast—but Ramos leaked the news when he arrived in New York Wednesday night.

Frazier, winner of all 20 of his pro fights, gained recognition as world champion in New York, Illinois, Massachusetts, Maine and Pennsylvania when he stopped Buster Mathis in the 11th round at the Garden March 4.

Baseball Is Losing Out in Attendance

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Big league baseball, already committed to expanding to 24 teams in 1969, is taking another step backward at the gate this season, an Associated Press survey disclosed today.

Attendance so far in 1968 is 3.7 per cent under 1967 and almost 10 per cent behind the pace of the majors' peak year in 1966 when they totaled 25 million paid admissions for the first time in history.

This year's aggregate is 3,646,351 compared to 3,786,343 in the same number of games last season and 4,044,609 in 1966. This represents a drop of 139,992 from '67 and 398,258 from 1966.

The National League, whose attendance declined more than two million last season, is off by 122,404. The American League deficit is only 17,588. The AL had an all-time high of 11,336,923 last year when it had one of its closest pennant races ever.

Eleven clubs reported 1968 decreases, a number of them citing reasons that included inclement weather, racial unrest, losing streaks and fewer double-headers than last year.

The Atlanta Braves show the largest decrease, 111,307. The Braves, who shifted from Milwaukee to Atlanta in 1966, have pulled 156,699 customers through the turnstiles in '68. In the same number of home games in 1967, they attracted 268,006 and in 1966 it was 269,877.

Others behind last year's pace are Cincinnati, off 79,928; Baltimore 61,184; the New York Yankees, 54,825; California 51,799; Detroit 51,519; St. Louis 21,458; Los Angeles 15,429; San Francisco 15,122; the Chicago White Sox 5,743 and Philadelphia, 5,364.

The White Sox, who played their first of nine scheduled games in Milwaukee Wednesday night, are averaging only slightly higher than 7,000 spectators in Chicago. They are rumored to be considering shifting to the Wisconsin city.

to the Supreme Court.

After refusing to take the step for induction, Muhammad was stripped of his title by both the New York Athletic Commission and the World Boxing Association.

Ellis, former sparmate of the champion, recently won the WBA title tournament, Frazier, by beating Buster Mathis, gained the recognition of the New York Athletic Commission and a handful of other states.

"But nobody recognizes anybody but me as champion," Ali said. "A lot of people are protesting. They will call whoever wins 'the white man's champion' unless he beats me."

Says Sport, Not Money Comes First

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Pro football commissioner Pete Rozelle says he still believes team owners and players consider the game a sport and are willing to make sacrifices for it.

"I believe every owner in the game would rather lose a million dollars and win the Super Bowl than to make a million and finish third or fourth in his division," Rozelle said on the eve of today's finish of the club owners' meeting.

The joint meeting of owners of teams in the American and National Football Leagues stretched into today because of lengthy discussions by NFL executives over player demands for more money.

The owners have been talking about a reported letter which they have said shows the NFL Players Association is seeking authority to call a strike if their demands aren't met. No owner, however, has said he has seen the letter.

"At this time, I certainly do not think there will be a strike," Rozelle said. "Neither side wants a strike. I'm extremely hopeful that this will be resolved without such action."

The players are seeking a $5 million hike in their pension fund, $500 each for playing in a preseason game and a minimum annual salary of $15,000.

Although the NFL owners did not come to a public agreement on how they would counter player demands, a joint session of the NFL-AFL produced two developments.

The owners voted unanimously to test an extra-point scoring change in interleague exhibition games. The change abolishes conversion kicks and requires teams battling in games matching AFL players against NFL players to run or pass for a one-point conversion.

Exhibition games between teams of the same league will use the old conversion rule. Teams in NFL will kick, run or pass for one point and AFL foes will continue to kick for one point or run or pass for two.

The old rules also will apply during all regular season games in both leagues next fall.

The other development came when the owners adopted unanimously a resolution that would require the Boston Patriots to be in the process of building at least a 50,000-seat stadium by 1970 or relinquish its franchise in the AFL.

Suit Filed to Block Track Owners

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Two West Memphis women who own stock in Southland Racing Corp. filed suit in U. S. District Court Wednesday to block a meeting of the Southland board of directors scheduled in West Memphis Friday.

Ceta N. High and Olivia H. Linton asked the court to require Southland directors to disclose any arrangement under which control of the firm's greyhound racing track at West Memphis could pass to out-of-state interests.

Judge Gordon Young set a hearing on the petition for 10 a.m. Friday in Little Rock. This is the same hour that the stockholders are scheduled to meet in West Memphis.

After the suit was filed, state Sen. Clarence Bell changed his mind about his plans to confer with Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell about a Legislative Council investigation into Southland's ownership.

Bell was one of several East Arkansas legislators who asked the council last week to launch the investigation. He said he understood that out-of-state interests would take over the track in 10 days if something wasn't done.

Bell said he understood the High Park Corp., which he described as a New York syndicate, had bought controlling interest in Southland.

Jeremy M. Jacobs of Williamsburg, N.Y., a High Park official, issued a statement Tuesday saying that High Park is a family corporation with numerous subsidiary interests. He said High Park owned 45 per cent of Southland's stock and was interested only in protecting its financial interest.

The suit said that it has been indicated that Jacobs and John Masoni of Cleveland, both Southland directors, intend to try to elect directors of their choice at the meeting Friday.

Southland's management has distributed to stockholders an information sheet proposing reelection of Jacobs, Masoni, Charles Upton, O. I. Bellinger to the board.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, who received a report on ownership of Southland stock from the Racing Commission Tuesday, declined to comment on filing of the suit.

He would not discuss the report immediately.

Neither would he say whether he will, as the council has suggested, include amendments to the greyhound racing law in his call to a special legislative session set to start Monday.

The Racing Commission, which has put off setting dates for Southland's 1968 meeting because of the controversy, is scheduled to meet Saturday in West Memphis.

GIs Can Fly Flags From Home State

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
 AP Military Writer
 WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon has assured outraged Southern congressmen that servicemen will be allowed to fly their home-state flags in South Vietnam—even if those flags are emblazoned with the insignia of the Civil War Confederacy.

The flap started about two weeks ago when Rep. W. S. Stuckey, D-Ga., told the House he was "upset, angry and indignant" because one of his constituents in Vietnam was ordered to remove the Georgia flag from above his bunk.

"The reason given was that since some people view the Confederate flag as a symbol of racism," Stuckey said, "all state flags which contain bars and stars must be removed."

He read part of a soldier's letter to the soldier's mother complaining the order came out "because of the racial tension" following the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

While the Southern state flags had to come down, Stuckey said, flags from such states as New York and Ohio "were allowed to remain displayed." The Georgia congressman said he had written to the Pentagon demanding "that this ridiculous and dangerous order be investigated."

Asked about this, the Pentagon said a preliminary inquiry showed that on April 10, during the period of civil disturbance after King's death, a local decision was made within the 1st Marine Aircraft Wing in Vietnam "to prohibit the outward display of the Confederate flag."

The aim, the Defense Department said, was to "reduce the likelihood of and racial tensions within the wing." The Pentagon identified neither the originator of the order nor the Marine who had to pull down the flag.

"When the appropriate officers were informed that the flag was the official state flag of Georgia, the order was clarified and the state flag was again displayed," the Pentagon said.

Quake Shakes
 Japan, 14
 Are Killed

By ROBERT LIU
 Associated Press Writer
 TOKYO (AP) — A severe earthquake that jolted 600 miles of Japan's eastern seaboard today killed at least 14 persons and caused tidal waves and widespread damage.

Police said in addition to the 14 known dead, three persons were missing and at least 50 injured. Seven Americans at Misawa Air Force Base, in northern Honshu, suffered minor injuries, but no planes were damaged.

It wasn't as bad as it might have been because the quake's epicenter was 93 miles out to sea, off Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost island.

The Central Meteorological Agency said magnitude of the quake at its epicenter was 7.8, above the seven-point scale used in Japan. It was the strongest quake since the Sept. 1, 1923, tremor that left much of Tokyo and Yokohama in ruins.

The tidal waves averaged four to five feet, but damage was reduced because they came at low tide.

However, numerous homes and buildings were destroyed, either by the quake or fires that followed it. Hundreds of homes were flooded to floor level or above. Roads were impassable in places, bridges cut, dikes ruptured and railway tracks severed.

Most of the damage occurred in southern Hokkaido and northern to central Honshu.

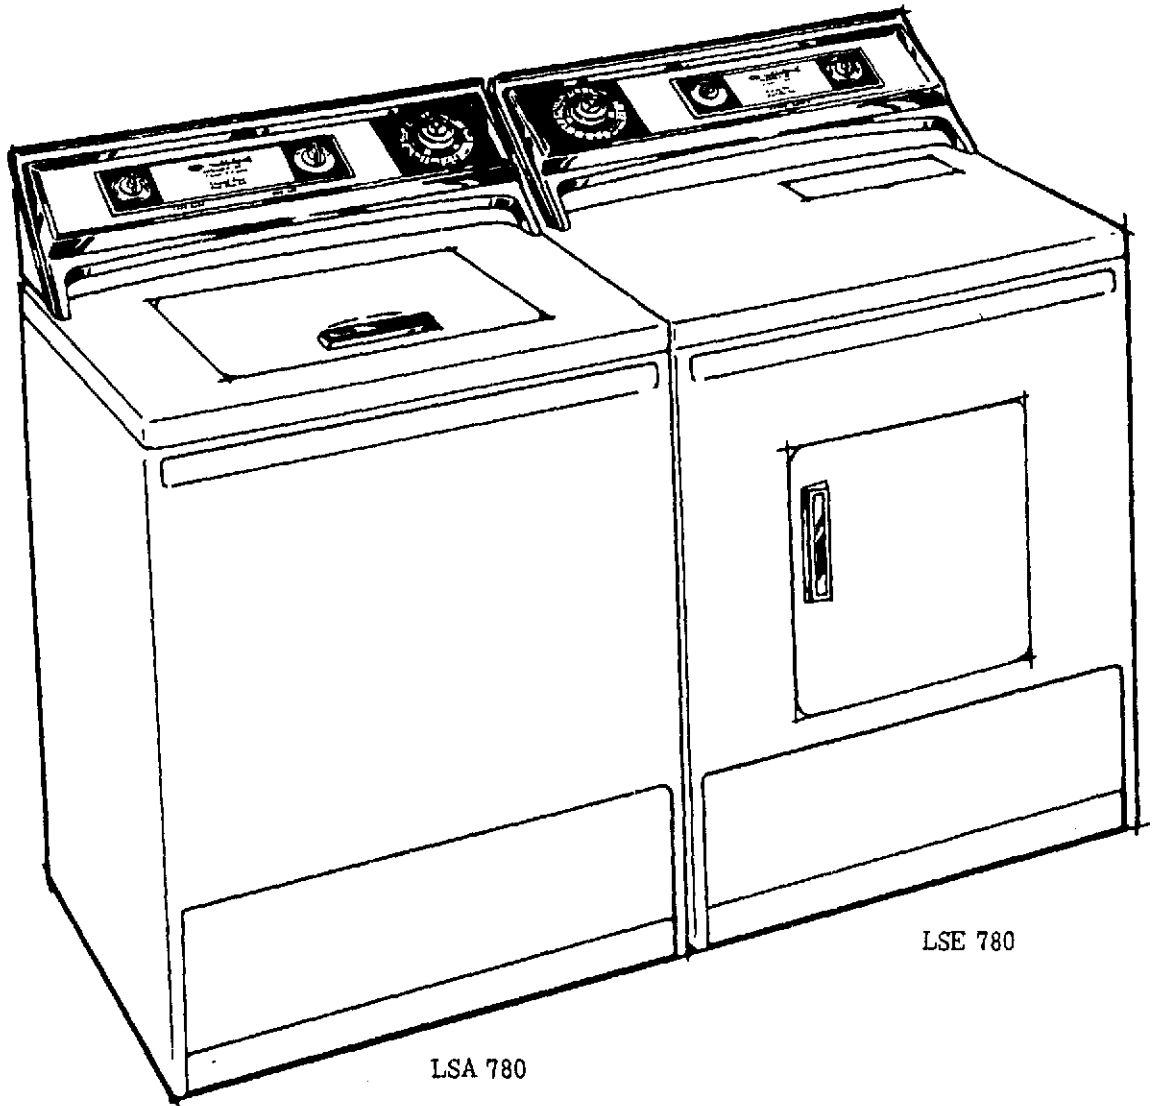

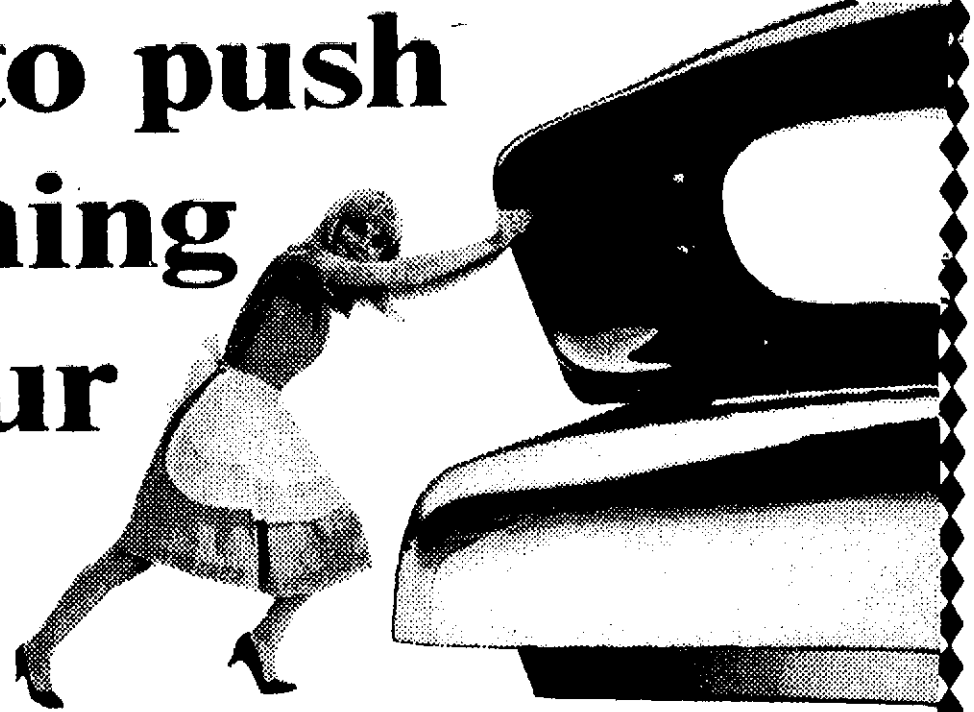

Aomori, a city of 210,000 in northern Honshu, apparently was hardest hit. Eleven dead were reported there and more than 80 homes were destroyed.

Flag Etiquette

When a flag is to be half-masted, it should be first hoisted to the peak for an instant and then lowered to the half-staff position. The flag should be again raised to the peak before it is lowered for the day.

shape to lift it and put it back on the track."

Sundstrom explained that the water which flooded the passage and kept the men pinned in nearly ten days of darkness was drinkable but he pointed out it did have a slight acid content.

Mine officials were mystified on the source of air to the men.

"They must have had air coming in from somewhere," he said.

One of the six told officials that the water which came in and trapped them "flooded the mine like a tidal wave and washed us up to higher ground."

Surface crews which drilled 5-inch air vents to the other 15 and lowered food and other items to them tried to reach the same way. But the drills touched only water when they broke through the top of the shaft.

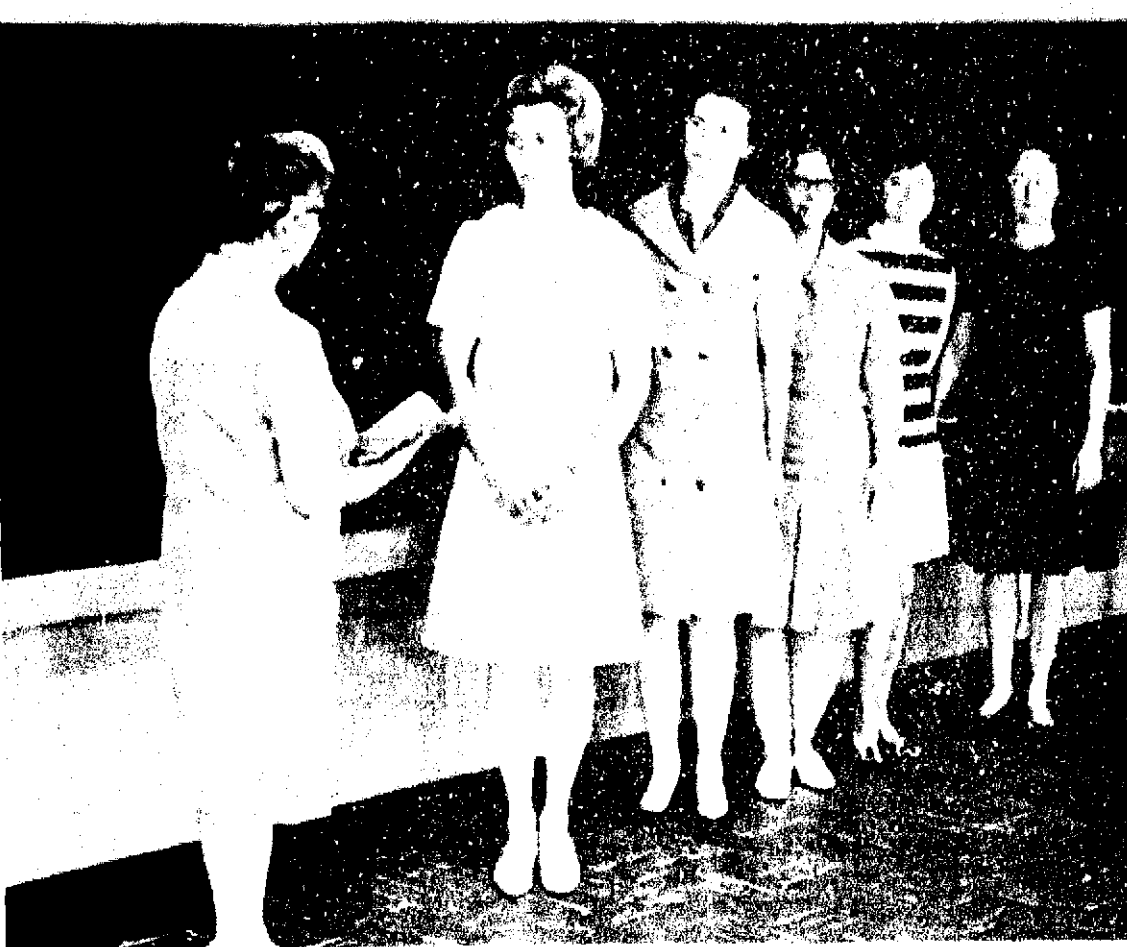

The men said today they heard the drill bits break through and could hear rescue crews calling to them but the hole to the surface was about 200 feet from them. They yelled back, they said, but apparently were not heard.

3 Arkansans

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department announced Wednesday the names of three more Arkansas servicemen listed as killed in action in Vietnam.

They were Army Capt. Edmund B. Scarborough of Little Rock, Army Sgt. Paul Jackson of Benton, and Marine Lance Cpl. Emmitt C. Dansby, son of Mr. and Mrs. James N. Dansby of Texarkana.

bassador W. Averell Harriman and Minister of State Xuan Thuy bear fruit, the Americans would like to see the machinery to police any peace arrangements in the hands of such neutral Asian states as Burma, India and Indonesia.

Harriman signaled American thinking on the subject in presenting his government's first policy statement in the peace talks. He said any new agreement would need international supervision but on a stronger, wider basis than the Communist-Western-neutral commission set up by the 1954 Geneva accords that ended France's war in Indochina.

"Experience has demonstrated the shortcomings of the existing procedures," said Harriman. "We believe one of our major tasks will be to devise more effective ways of supervising any agreement and insuring the fair and equitable investigation of complaints."

He added that "the nations of Asia, with their crucial interests in the stability of the area," should be "associated with the monitoring" of any agreements reached.

On the face of it, this would seem to offer Communist China a part in the policing job. But the diplomatic sources stressed that the Americans have no such idea in mind. Instead Washington wants membership in any control system confined to neutral or nonaligned countries, the informants said.

Mitchell
Paces Tech
in Golf Play

BENTON, Ark. (AP) — Richard Mitchell shot an even par 72 Wednesday and paced Arkansas Tech to its third consecutive Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference gold championships.

Mitchell was medalist for the 36-hole tournament with a two-day total of 144. Tech wound up with a 614 total. Jimmy Cloutier of Hendrix finished second to Mitchell with rounds of 75 and 71.

Little Rock University rallied from a five-stroke deficit to tie Tech in the District 17 NAAIA tournament. The district tournament was held in conjunction with the AIC meet.

Charles Adcock, executive secretary of the AIC, said the NAAIA probably would qualify both Tech and LRU for the national tournament.

Hendrix finished second in the AIC meet followed by State College of Arkansas.

'Auto Workers
to Be Kicked Out by Meany

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO loses its biggest, richest union today when President George Meany mails a formal letter suspending Walter Reuther's United Auto Workers for refusing to pay its dues.

An aide said Meany was drafting a "businesslike" letter to Reuther, who joined him in founding the giant labor federation 12 years ago.

The letter will cost the AFL-CIO 1.5 million members and more than $1 million a year in dues, but the final break between the two powerful labor leaders stemmed from virtually everything except money.

It capped a two-year Reuther attack on Meany's leadership as "undemocratic" and "stagnant" in AFL-CIO policies on everything from wages to water pollution.

"There's been a one-sided barrage," Meany said. But the 73-year-old former plumber, after first chafing in silence under Reuther's assault, had lately been firing back some verbal broadsides.

"We have some loud-mouthed critics on our own side," Meany said recently in defending the AFL-CIO from Reuther's criticisms.

"Get the American labor movement off dead center and on the march," Reuther urged, complaining the AFL-CIO should be organizing millions more workers.

Meany retorted: "In January 1968, the membership was 14,951,000 — an increase of 14 per cent in three and a half years. Pretty good for an organization that is resting on dead center."

Reuther had demanded "internal reform and democratization of the AFL-CIO." He said the federation "lacks the social vision, the dynamic thrust, the crusading spirit that should characterize the progressive, modern labor movement."

Meany sorted the AFL-CIO, had been accused of failing to "display an adequate sense of social consciousness — whatever the hell that means."

Meany defended the federation's role as "the peoples' lobby" in Congress in supporting a broad range of social legislation over the years.

"I say the AFL-CIO is moving," Meany said. "It is moving

That battle was seven miles northeast of Kontum City. Today, in the darkness before dawn, North Vietnamese troops about 20 miles west of the city opened up with mortars, rocket-propelled grenades, flamethrowers and small arms on a patrol base and an outpost of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division within 400 yards of each other.

The defenders of the outpost were forced back to the patrol base, which retaliated with mortars and artillery while Air Force twin-engine AC47s armed with rapid-firing guns sprayed thousands of rounds into the enemy positions under the light of flares.

As dawn broke, the North Vietnamese pulled back but an hour later renewed the mortar attack on the patrol base. Sporadic shelling continued during the day.

Australian troops manning a patrol base 25 miles northeast of Saigon threw back hundreds of charging North Vietnamese twice as the enemy launched "two determined waves of ground attacks about two hours apart" early today, the Australian Command reported.

Crossett, Hamburg
Papers Switch
to Offset

Today we salute Robert Fisher and his staff for their successful conversion of the Crossett News Observer to the offset system of printing.

The News Observer, one of Arkansas' major weekly newspapers, running 24 pages per issue with an ABC circulation of 3,571, made its first run in offset with the edition dated May 2.

Actual manufacture of a weekly is done the day before date of publication, so we knew something was cooking at Crossett when our pressroom—Mech. Supt. Billy Dan Jones and his associate Gene Allen—began getting telephone calls from the News Observer.

Crossett had trouble—as who doesn't with the conversion to offset? Hope hasn't forgotten that The Star brought out its first offset issue, Dec. 29, 1965, at midnight—not so good for an evening daily. It was a month before we were able to get production back to normal, meaning a press time between 2:30 and 3 p.m.

Crossett called Hope because we bought identical presses, the Fairchild News King Model 475—and now Bob Fisher's outfit is rolling. Their third edition in offset, dated May 16, came in this morning, and it's strictly O.K.

Crossett also prints the Ashley County Leader of Hamburg—meaning that 33 of Arkansas' 128 weeklies, 25.7 per cent, have made this expensive technical switch in manufacture. Six of the state's 30 dailies are offsetters—a technical revolution which will reach all but the largest newspapers within this generation.

The advantages of offset are obvious: Faster production (the Hope and Crossett presses have a speed of 15,000 papers per hour), more pages per issue, and superb reproduction of photographs, including process color.

Will Take Days to End Flooding

Several rainless days which should reduce flood difficulties are in store for Arkansas as a cool front moves out of extreme Southeast Arkansas this morning as expected.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said however, that many of the state's rivers would not reach their crests until Friday. Although water continued today to drain off thousands of acres of flooded bottomland.

The Weather Bureau said the Little Missouri, Caddo and Saline rivers would continue to fall.

The flood crest on the Ouachita River is expected to reach 43 feet at Camden by Friday. The river continued to fall today at Arkadelphia.

The White River is expected to continue rising at and below Augusta through Monday. A crest of 28 to 29 feet is predicted Friday and Saturday at Des Arc and a crest of 30 to 31 feet is expected Sunday or Monday at Clarendon.

The Arkansas River will crest at 20 feet today at Little Rock. A crest of 41 feet is forecast at Pine Bluff Friday.

Field work in extreme Northeast Arkansas will be delayed well into next week by the rainfall Wednesday. There are also excess amounts of moisture in the central and south delta but on a smaller scale.

Overnight low temperatures ranged from 49 at Fayetteville to 70 at Texarkana and El Dorado. Rainfall reports for the 24-hour period ended at 7 a.m. ranged from .07 at El Dorado to .53 at Little Rock.

Watershed Loan Approved

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A $142,500 watershed loan to the Fleischman's Bayou Improvement District in Ashley County, was approved Wednesday by the Farmers Home Administration.

The money will be used in a $741,824 project to construct 33 miles of drainage ditches and 90 grade stabilization structures which will benefit 22,000 acres of land.

Six Miners Escape After Ten Days

By HOLGER JENSEN
Associated Press Writer
HOMINY FALLS, W.Va. (AP) — Six coal miners, trapped nearly ten days two miles deep in a flooded mine shaft, were rescued early today and were termed "all in good shape."

They had been given up for dead since there had been no word from them since they were trapped.

The other four trapped with them since May 6 were found dead and their bodies were due to be brought out later today. Work had continued around the clock to reach the ten men though they were feared dead.

Another 15 miners, isolated a mile away and one mile from the mine's entrance, were rescued last Saturday.

The six were given a quick checkup at the mine entrance by Dr. Lee B. Todd and then rushed to Sacred Heart hospital in Richwood, 15 miles away.

The six reached the mine entrance about 4 a.m. (EDT) and paused for a prayer at the opening of the long horizontal shaft that bores into the foot of a mountain.

At the three-story hospital, the men were shielded from newsmen while doctors checked them and they talked with their families.

"God he's alive," said Mrs. J. J. Moore, Jr., sister of John Moore, Jr. "We gave up hope after all this time, and we still can't believe it. He's my only brother and he better not go down that damned mine again."

Newsmen got a glimpse of the men who appeared cheerful as they stepped hot chocolate in their hospital beds. None appeared in poor condition.

Beside the Moore, the other five rescued were Joe E. Fitzwater, 33, of Rupert, whose brother barely escaped being trapped; Jennings H. Lilly, 30, of Mt. Nebo; Edward F. Scarbro, 38, of Richwood; Gene H. Martin, 34, of Clintonville; and Larry Lynch, 28, of Richwood. All of their homes are near the mine.

"You can tell the whole world that the Fitzwater family is the happiest darned family in the world today," said Mrs. Ernest Fitzwater when she grabbed a newsmen in the hospital corridor.

The men had to crawl 800 yards through the 36-inch tunnel to reach a battery-operated mine cart. This took them to a conveyor belt, normally used for hauling coal, and they rode it a half-mile to the mine's entrance.

H. E. Sundstrom of the Cawley Coal and Coke Co., which operates the mine, said the cart hit a deep hole and jumped the track but he said the three men in it "were in good enough shape."

U.S. Willing to Form Peace Keeping Plan by Asian Neutrals

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

562 Killed in War in Past Week

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops launched strong attacks today north of Saigon and in the Central Highlands as the U.S. Command announced that more American soldiers were killed in combat last week than in any week of the Vietnam war.

U.S. Command said 562 Americans were killed, 19 more than the previous record in the week of Feb. 11-17. The U.S. Command reported 5,552 enemy killed last week, no record, while South Vietnamese headquarters said 675 government troops were killed, their third highest weekly toll of the war.

A U.S. spokesman said much of the American death toll resulted from heavy action in the northernmost provinces, where U.S. Marines fought several battles last week around Dong Ha, 11 miles south of the demilitarized zone. The week also saw hard fighting in and around Saigon as American and South Vietnamese forces crushed the second enemy offensive within four months against the capital.

Allied forces reported nearly 400 more Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed Wednesday in clashes from the canal-laced Mekong Delta to the demilitarized zone. And today there were reports of more fighting in the Central Highlands on three sides of Kontum, a key provincial capital, and near Khe Sanh, in the northwest corner of the country.

The Communist command appeared to be trying to keep up the military pressure to strengthen its bargaining position at the Paris peace talks. It sent troops storming at American and Australian positions and South Vietnamese outposts. Near Khe Sanh, North Vietnamese troops fought U.S. Marines from bunkers for 7 1/2 hours.

The heaviest fighting was around Kontum City where an allied force reported 147 North Vietnamese killed in five hours of action Wednesday during

Every Child Wants Own Bathroom But This Is Unlikely for Kennedys

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — My bathroom has many advantages. It is cozy, well-heated, has comfortable seating and a ready reference library that will at least measure up to that found in the average dentist's office.

But for 20 years I have tried to find peace in that bathroom—and it simply can't be done.

Every American boy is inspired by the fact he has a chance to grow up and become president of the United States—or at least earn enough money to have a bathroom of his very own.

This is unlikely, particularly in the case of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, who has an 11th child on the way. If he yearns for a bathroom of his own, he'd do better to forget the White House and set his sights on taking over the Pentagon.

When I graduated to a two-bathroom apartment two decades ago, I patted the tiled walls in joy. I thought that at least I had achieved one of my lifelong dreams—a stall shower of my own, a place where I could come and sit and brood and fill out my income tax returns undisturbed.

It was to be my private ivory tower, my monk's cell, my hermitage, my retreat from the world that seems always too much with us.

What a delusion! It started with a simple question from Frances, my wife: "You don't mind if I hang a few stockings to dry in your stall shower, do you?"

"No, of course not," I answered. I was like the kindly Arab who let the camel stick its nose into his tent to get warm and soon found himself crowded out by the animal.

My bathroom is now a forest of bottled lady lotions and dripping feminine finery. It has become a laundry for Frances and our teen-age daughter, Tracy Ann.

They wash their hair there, too, do their fingernails there, that the discussions so far show it to be a real issue.

North Vietnamese representative Xuan Thuy, demanded Wednesday that the United States halt all military actions against North Vietnam, including "the bombardment of artillery based in the southern part of the DMZ as well as air strikes there and elsewhere."

He also demanded that the United States withdraw from the zone, but U.S. officials said neither the United States nor its allies had established bases or sent troops into the zone for other than brief sweep operations.

The North Vietnamese have been reported to have entire divisions in that area, operating freely between their own and South Vietnamese territory.

In another area, the United States is working on proposals to support any Vietnam settlement with a peacekeeping system run by neutral Asian nations.

Diplomatic officials, reporting this today, said the idea is to provide more effective supervision than has been provided by the powerless Indochina Control Commission made up of India, Japan and Canada.

3,680 in Hempstead Draw $223,922 in SS Benefits Each Month

Otis A. Blackwood, District Manager of the Texarkana Social Security Office, states there are 3,680 persons in Hempstead County who are drawing $223,922 in social security benefits each month.

By comparison, at the end of 1966 there were 3,274 people drawing $179,075 each month. The sharp increase in the amount of benefits was caused by the 13 per cent increase given to all beneficiaries on February 1, 1968.

The following is a breakdown by towns, which shows the number of people drawing and the amount being paid each month into Hempstead County.

City	No.	Amount
Hope	2446	$160,731.00
Blevins	143	$8,590.00
Columbus	42	1,869.00
Fulton	198	10,275.00
McCaskey	150	8,059.00
McNab	100	4,773.00
Ozan	203	9,845.00
Patmos	149	8,532.00
Washington	249	11,249.00

Blackwood states there were many changes made by the 1967 amendments to the Social Security Act.

Man Presumed Drowned in White River

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Everett Ballard, 27, of Batesville was missing and presumed drowned when the boat he and a companion were in washed over a 12-foot dam on the White River at Batesville Wednesday.

Authorities said Ballard and Charles Stephens, 20, of Batesville were fishing when the engine on their boat wouldn't start as they floated up and over the dam.

Stephens managed to swim ashore about a quarter-mile below the dam. A search was to resume for Ballard's body this morning.

McCarthy Is Vital to Candidates

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — In primary election defeat, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy has become a campaigner vital to the White House strategies of both Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Kennedy needs an active opponent to contest in Oregon's May 28 Democratic primary, and in the windup races in California and South Dakota on June 4.

And McCarthy, loser of two outings in a row, said he will be there, campaigning through them all.

Kennedy lieutenants acknowledge they cannot afford to lose in Oregon, where McCarthy maintains he now has an even chance.

And should Kennedy fail to match his showing in Nebraska, where he captured 51 per cent of the vote Tuesday, his cause would suffer.

"If I do well in the primaries, my chance for the nomination will be high," said Kennedy, who also won in Indiana on May 7, polling 42 per cent of the

Magnolia Bank Suit Is Settled

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A suit in which the First National Bank of Magnolia sought to recover from a bonding company money allegedly lost as a result of actions of W. C. Blewster, a former president of the bank, has been settled out of court.

Bank President William Rice announced the settlement Wednesday. He said it called for the bank to recover all its losses, either from U.S. Fidelity and Guaranty Co., or from salvage of the notes on which the losses were incurred.

The suit alleged originally that the bank had lost $940,052. This was later reduced to $600,000.

Rice did not disclose the amount to be paid by the bonding company.

The suit alleged that Blewster, who resigned in 1964 after 22 years as president of the bank, had made loans in reckless disregard for the interests of the bank.

Blewster, 63, was fined $5,000 and received a three-year suspended sentence in 1966 after he pleaded guilty to a charge of misapplication of $50,000 in bank funds. Three other charges against him were dropped.

Arkansas Hardest Hit as Tornadoes Touch Down in Nine States

33 Die, 350 Are Injured at Jonesboro

By ROBERT SHAW
Associated Press Writer
JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Deadly spring twisters prowled Arkansas' tornado Valley Wednesday night, leaving more than two score dead and staggering property damage.

This university city of 24,000 was hardest hit. It counted 33 dead and more than 350 injured as the first daylight search of the stricken area began.

State Police reported 10 dead at Oil Trough, three died in tornado winds at Mountain Home, and two were killed at Tuckerman, all within 100 miles of Jonesboro, in an area of the state which is periodically plagued by tornadoes.

Several other tornadoes which caused property damage and injury were reported during the night and most of the area was under a storm alert until daybreak.

The twisters dropped out of spring thunderstorms which poured heavy rain on already flooded areas.

A tornado wrecked the downtown area of Manila, 32 miles northeast of Jonesboro, but no one was reported killed there.

The twister that hit Jonesboro struck first in the Valley View community, south of the city, then smashed through the southeast section of the city scattering homes like dominoes.

Witnesses said Oil Trough, a town of 235, was virtually destroyed. More than 50 injured here were rushed to hospitals at Batesville and Newport.

Tuckerman, population 1,600 was not so hard hit. Property damage was not heavy. Ten persons were injured.

The U.S. Weather Bureau reported numerous sightings of tornado funnels aloft. High winds and hail caused damage in other sections of the state and most of Arkansas was under one severe alert or another through the evening.

The twisters struck as the state was beginning to recover from floods which plagued the south and central sections earlier in the week.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller authorized use of the National Guard at Jonesboro.

The storm missed Arkansas State University in eastern Jonesboro. The university has more than 3,000 students, most of whom live in dormitories.

Death Toll in State Reaches 43

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The most vicious onslaught of tornadoes this year slammed across the nation's midsection leaving some 70 persons dead and a score of others missing today. Property damage ran into the millions.

Hundreds of persons were injured.

The clawing winds smashed structures in a nine-state area Wednesday evening and night. The toll climbed slowly today as rescue workers poked through the ruins.

Arkansas, a state periodically plagued by twisters, was hardest hit, with 43 dead. Iowa counted 14 dead and 20 missing. Illinois counted 10 deaths from twisters and severe weather and Missouri and Indiana 1 each.

The university city of Jonesboro, Ark., reported 34 dead and 350 injured by midmorning. The tornado bypassed Arkansas State University, however, and all its 6,000 students escaped injury.

Five of the communities hit in Arkansas—Oil Trough, Tuckerman, Manila, Marion and Black Oak, are in the state's tornado alley, battered by frequent storms.

In northeastern Iowa, Charles City, Osceola and Maynard were hardest hit.

The Red Cross estimated 60 per cent of Charles City was damaged, with 90 businesses wrecked or damaged, 300 homes destroyed and hundreds of persons injured.

In central and Southern Illinois, four were killed at Wapella and four in Freeburg. Two additional Illinois deaths were attributed to storms.

The Red Cross said Wapella, a community of 500 situated 30 miles north of Decatur, Ill., suffered 90 per cent damage. Every building in the small community except the high school was damaged or destroyed.

The rash of tornadoes—the Weather Bureau reported more than 30 in a nine-state area from Kansas to Ohio—erupted as a strong cold front clashed with warm, humid temperatures in the mid 80s.

Shortly before striking in Arkansas, the wave of twisters raked northeastern Iowa. A funnel cloud roared through downtown Charles City around 4 p.m.

Eleven were dead when the storm was over and, police reported, most buildings in an eight-block area were demolished.

Only an hour later a twister whipped into Osceola, 50 miles from Charles City, striking first at the south edge of the community and then blasting a path through the business district.

The highway patrol said two persons were killed in the city, two were missing and a child was killed just north of Osceola.

National Guard troops were called out both in Arkansas and Iowa. Additional doctors, nurses and blood were flown to stricken parts of Iowa from as far away as Minneapolis.

The storms in Arkansas poured more heavy rain on sections of that state still flooded from heavy downpours earlier in the week.

Tornadoes or severe thunderstorms swept almost the entire length of Illinois, starting before noon Wednesday and continuing into the night.

Hardest hit in Illinois was Freeburg,

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Treatment for Epilepsy Should Be Continuous

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—About two years ago, our daughter, 19, started having epileptic fits. Is there any test to determine what causes them? Will she have to take medicine for the rest of her life? What kind of doctor should she go to for this condition?

A—There are several types of epilepsy but the most common types—petit mal and grand mal—are hereditary. The EEG or brain wave test is used to confirm the diagnosis. Since the disease can be controlled rather than cured the treatment should be continued for life. A specialist in diseases of the nervous system (neurologist) should supervise the treatment.

There are almost as many variations of the Stayman convention as there are players who use it. We call our form Jacoby Stayman and combine it with the Jacoby transfer bid.

Thus, our two-club response is known as nonforcing Stayman. It is a one-round force but only forces partner to rebid two diamonds, if he has no four-card major, or two hearts or spades if he holds a four-card major. Later on we may pass his response to our two clubs. If our second bid is just two hearts or two spades, we are showing a poor hand and he is supposed to pass. If our rebid is two no-trump, we show eight to nine points and a four-card major somewhere. If it is three no-trump, we show the same type hand but with 10 to 15 or maybe 16 points, while if we follow up Stayman with a three level suit bid, we are forcing the game or maybe on our way to a slam.

Today's hand shows nonforcing Stayman in action. North does not want to play no-trump and bids two clubs with the intention of rebidding to two spades if partner replies two diamonds. Note that partner must reply in a suit. He is not supposed to rebid two no-trump over our two clubs.

South happens to rebid two hearts and North is happy. A four-four fit in hearts has been found.

Two hearts is the right place for North-South to play the hand. South can make it by attacking spades immediately after winning the club lead, but even if South plays poorly, he will only be down one. One no-trump would go down at least one and so would two spades.

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South

Pass	4 ♠	Pass	?

You, South, hold:
♠ A 2 ♥ K J 5 ♦ K 10 6 4 ♣ A Q 9 8
What do you do now?

A—Your partner is accepting your heart slam invitation by showing first round diamond control. You should bid four spades to show this ace.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Your partner continues to five clubs. What do you do now?

Q—Can a person with epilepsy have a normal EEG at one time and an abnormal test at another time?

A—Yes. If the test is made between attacks, abnormalities are seen in only about 40 per cent of epileptics tested when fully awake. If the victim is observed in a hospital and EEG tracings are made during sleep about 75 per cent will show abnormal tracings.

Q—What are the side effects of the Dilantin that is given to control epilepsy?

A—Sometimes, in order to control the seizures, a dosage of this drug may be given that will cause nausea, mild dizziness, sore gums and loss of weight. Careful adjustment of the dose is always necessary.

Q—What is Jackson's epilepsy?

A—Jacksonian epilepsy occurs when an irritating lesion in the frontal lobe of the brain results in seizures that begin with twitching of the fingers of one hand, the toes of one foot or one side of the face. The twitching spreads slowly to other muscles on the same side of the body. Unlike petit mal and grand mal attacks there is no loss of consciousness.

Q—What is the difference between a vasectomy and a vasotomy? Could either of these operations fail in their purpose of preventing conception?

A—A vasectomy is the removal of all or part of the vas or tube that carries sperm from the testicles to the seminal vesicles. A vasotomy is a cutting and tying of the vas. Either procedure would prevent a man from impregnating his wife.

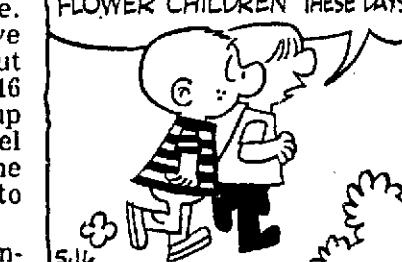

Q—Is it illegal for a doctor to tie a woman's tubes so she cannot get pregnant?

A—Not if the operation is performed with her full knowledge and written consent.

Local Major Awarded

Anniversary of Career Launching

By ANDY MORRIS

Jonesboro, Ark. (AP) — Thomas Beasley celebrated an important anniversary here recently, one that launched him into a government career which spanned three decades.

Beasley, a native of Jonesboro, worked for the Justice Department in Washington for 32 years after Sen. Hattie Caraway landed him a job there in 1933. It was May 3, 1933, when Beasley left Jonesboro with $100 and some letters of recommendation from local citizens.

He worked in the U.S. Senate for a few months and then went to work in the U.S. Marshall's office in the Supreme Court Building. In December of 1941 he became a personal aide to Justice Felix Frankfurter, a position he held until Frankfurter died in 1965.

Beasley retired at that time and now has decided to return to Jonesboro to live. He is married to the former Willie Thomas, daughter of Mrs. Jimmie Thomas and the late Rev. W. J. Thomas.

Although his career in the Justice Department was long and distinguished, it was not the only highlight of his life. Beasley still recalls with a glint in his eye the day he won the world's chicken picking contest at the World's Fair in Chicago.

Before he went to Washington Beasley was employed by the Hotel Noble. The hotel had a chicken farm outside of Jonesboro where chickens were prepared for several hotels which were connected with the Noble.

About a year and a half after he started picking chickens Beasley learned the trick that made him the champion of them all.

He still beams with delight when he recalls how he developed the art.

"I forgot to cut off a chicken's neck one day and dipped the bird in hot water so I could pick it. By the time I got it out of the water most of the feathers were gone," he remembered. "I got to wondering about it and I looked closely for the key."

"I found that it was in the wing and that when the neck was left on the hot water expanded a small area above the wing. This area, when broken, made it possible for me to take all the feathers off with just a rolling of my hand."

Beasley could roll off those feathers, too, at the rate of about 20 per minute in his heyday, which was when he captured the world's championship in Chicago. In one demonstration at Little Rock to which Mrs. Caraway sent him, Beasley plucked chickens in show-down with one Dallas Cook, who was thought at that time to be his equal.

Cook had hit 15 per minute, but on that day he got only 14 while Beasley set a personal goal that he has never topped or equalled. As far as anyone knows, 20 still is the all-time world record for picking chickens.

For one so gifted in the art of plucking chickens, it seems a bit unusual that a packing company or some other related industry didn't hire him for promotional purposes. Some tried to, but he wasn't interested.

He could have taken several good jobs picking chickens, too, except that his speed proved his undoing. Most of those jobs could not produce enough chickens in one day to keep up with Beasley's pace.

"I guess you might say I picked myself out of a job," he laughed.

British Look to Dollar for Help

By LAWRENCE MALKIN
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — How sterling is the pound six months after devaluation? To answer that, the British are looking not only to themselves, but to Washington and the dollar.

Full confidence in the pound has not returned because the British know their currency is still at the mercy of international financial storms. Nor has British self-confidence returned, either politically or economically, because no one can safely say whether devaluation is doing its intended job of restoring national solvency. And no one can be expected to know that until at least the end of the year.

Last week the pound trembled in the world's money markets for a complex of reasons ranging from reported Russian troop movements to the distrust, and even hatred, of Prime Minister Harold Wilson and his Labor government felt by British and foreign businessmen.

Little of this had anything to do with the underlying strength or weakness of the British economy, but it was enough to keep buyers away from British pounds. The rate fell, then recovered somewhat, partly because of huge international currency swap agreements designed to protect the pound against just such short-term flows of confidence.

When the British cut the value of their currency Nov. 18, experts including U.S. Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler warned that the dollar would go into the front line in the speculative war against the world monetary system. The subsequent gold rush against the dollar proved these warnings correct.

Now the United States is proposing to raise taxes and is restricting foreign investment to protect the dollar just as the British have done to protect their pound. The British fear

Indians Out Jobs Want a Chance

By NEIL BIBLER
Associated Press Writer
MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — Montana's hard-core jobless Indian has a "cry in his heart to become one of the other people." A program at the University of Montana here is giving whole families that chance.

The $850,000 federal-state project takes the families off the reservation and places them on campus for study in basic education.

With the reading, language skills and arithmetic go health and home economics for the Indian housewives, public school for their older children and nursery care for the little ones.

The project is taking place near the Bitterroot Valley, which was once the home ground of the Salish Indians. To the north lies the reservation of Kootenai and Kalispells to which the Salish were moved in 1891.

May 17 is graduation day for 76 heads of families from Montana's seven Indian reservations. Most of the trainees had less than a high school education and were without jobs or locked in low paying ones.

They represent 60 per cent of the total who began the 24-to-36-week program. One project leader, Dr. James Hall, calls the drop-out rate "quite minimal."

"These people were school drop-outs before they entered the program," Hall says. "I would have been happy with 40 per cent remaining in." Hall is coordinator of extension and continuing education for the university. He drew the plans and got the money for the project.

The federal agencies involved — the Bureau of Indian Affairs, the Manpower Development and Training Administration, and the Office of Economic Opportunity — consider the trainees for the most part the hard-core unemployed.

The project provides basic skills and prevocational orientation; the BIA then places the graduates in appropriate work, knowing the individual is ready for the higher step and has some idea of where he wants to go.

Statistically, the group in the basic education courses started with a grade-level average of 7.4 on the California Achievement Test. After 20 weeks of study, the average was 9.1. Twenty-two persons have passed tests to earn the equivalent of a high school education.

Less than one-quarter of the Indians was employed before the project. Those who held jobs earned $300-$2,500 a year.

Under the program, heads of family get $32 per week for subsistence, plus $5 for each dependent. They also get $70-$114 per month from the BIA. A family of five children gets $360 a month and pays its own rent and utilities for campus housing. They are given a BIA grant for furniture at the start.

Hall feels the program's success lies in working with the whole family. "It's with the single individual where you have the drop-out problem," he says.

Would Not Make Prison Top Priority

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Rep. George Nowotny of Fort Smith, the Republican leader in the House, said Wednesday he was opposed to Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's proposed tax increase package to finance prison reform.

Nowotny's announcement before the Arkansas Legislative Council appeared to have jolted the administration's hopes for financing prison programs.

Members of the council, who are all Democrats except one, greeted Nowotny's statement with hearty applause.

Nowotny said he was not opposed to prison reform. He described the penitentiary as "a terrible place" but said the state had to establish priorities on its low revenue potential.

He said if the government must be austere, then the austerity should be applied to those people who had "kicked society," meaning prison inmates.

Nowotny said any money that is raised should go first to solve the problems of public schools, the state-supported colleges and universities and welfare recipients.

He said the prison programs advocated by the governor were needed, but he said they would wait until the state is in more "flourishing" times.

Rockefeller, plainly irritated over Nowotny's remarks, said he was still optimistic that the prison financing program would be passed.

"I regret that he didn't see fit to discuss it with me at all," Rockefeller said. He said the legislature already had committed itself to prison reform and that now it should raise the money for it.

If the prison system is forced to revert to its old condition, the governor said, "It will be a sad commentary on the legislative processes of the state."

The administration made one major change in the prison package Wednesday. Originally, it had proposed a 20 per cent excise tax on cigars, but lowered that to 15 per cent on the wholesale price.

Altogether, the original tax package would have produced slightly more than $1.8 million: $400,000 from the real estate transfer tax; $1.1 million from the cigar tax; $200,000 from the unclaimed property act and $150,000 from the application of the sales tax on purchases by banks and savings and loan associations.

The council also:

ELIZABETH ELLIS

Elizabeth Ellis, Extension Home Management Specialist, Little Rock, will discuss modern Laundry Equipment and Laundry Products at the Laundry Fair, Friday, May 17, at Livestock Show Coliseum. The Specialist will speak beginning at 1:30 p.m. and will be available for personal consultation during morning hours between 9:30 a.m. and 11:30 a.m. at exhibit on detergents.

Man Crushed to Death

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)— A 39-year-old Jonesboro man was crushed to death Wednesday when a car he was working on fell and crushed him.

The man was Creed Stahl, 39, Craighead County Coroner Bill Emerson said Stahl had the car lifted off the ground with a chain hoist attached to a wooden ceiling rafter. Emerson said the beam broke, dropping the car on Stahl.

— Referred without recommendation a bill to allow the state Board of Finance to invest up to $5 million of state balances in bonds of industrial development finance corporations.

— Gave a "do pass" recommendation to a proposed bill to allow local industrial development corporations to make plans for industries for the purchase of equipment. The bill also would raise from 6 to 8 per cent the maximum interest charged on bonds issued through local industrial development corporations.

— Gave a "do pass" recommendation to a proposal to authorize state retirement systems to invest funds in blue-chip common stocks.

— Gave a "do pass" recommendation to an appropriation of $600,000 to pay the salaries of National Guardsmen who are called to riot duty and to buy equipment for the guard.

Yerger F.H.A. committee assists with preparation of posters that are placed in downtown store windows to promote Laundry Fair, Friday, May 17. 21 Negroes Are Sent to Tucker Farm

TUCKER PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP)—Twenty-one Negro prisoners were assigned here Wednesday as state prison officials moved to desegregate this facility for youthful and first offenders.

Prison Supt. Victor Urban announced shortly before the 21 arrived here that Tucker, which has been reserved for white prisoners, would be desegregated.

The only Negroes held at Tucker prior to Wednesday were nine men on death row. Urban said the Negro prisoners who were transferred from Cummins Prison Farm were selected from interviews. He said he wanted to pick prisoners "who would not be upset in this type of situation."

Urban said barracks at Cummins will be desegregated in three to six months. Both white and Negro prisoners are held at Cummins, but they live in different barracks.

Specialists Here for Laundry Day

Miss Elizabeth Ellis, at left, Extension Home Management Specialist, Little Rock, and Dolores McBride, Extension Home Economist, discuss opportunities for homemakers to find some of the answers to laundry problems.

The Laundry Fair, at the Coliseum, Friday, will be a place of action! From 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. homemakers will have an opportunity to visit with professional people about problems.

Miss Ellis will be available at a Detergent booth displaying all types available and will assist the homemakers with distinguishing the difference and a better understanding of reasons for using different types.

Mrs. Cora Lee Guthridge, Extension Clothing Specialist, Little Rock, will be showing proper ways to use ironing and pressing equipment for best results on new fabrics.

Mrs. Tommy Crouch, former Extension Home Economist, will show proper use of Fabric Softeners to receive most benefit and will be discussing problems encountered through improper use.

Mr. Calvin Caldwell, County Extension Agent, will talk with those visiting a water conditioning exhibit on getting water tested and mineral affect.

Mrs. Alphonso Denham, Assistant Extension Home Economist, will explain Selection and Usage of Bleaches and problems resulting from improper usage.

Other exhibits provided by dealers in Hope on Laundry Equipment and washable fabrics will be on display for homemakers to apply knowledge learned.

The highlight of the Laundry Fair will be a presentation by the specialists from 1:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Homemakers may come as they are. There is no charge for the training. Free literature will be available at exhibits.

Miss McBride says this Fair was planned after a study of the problems homemakers were having with new fabrics, laundry equipment and products.

Numerous organizations, businesses and mass media are supporting this educational effort. The Extension Service is cooperating in making the training available.

Selecting Modern Laundry Equipment

Homemakers discuss automatic features of some of the modern laundry equipment that will be on display by dealers at the Laundry Fair Friday, May 17, to help homemakers see and compare what is available locally.

These parents are interested in a better understanding of the whys and hows of adjusting their laundry equipment to meet their needs of laundering modern fabrics. How long should clothes be washed? How can permanent stains be avoided? Why won't grandma's washday recipe of the "good ole days" work on modern-day fabrics? What's the difference? How do I launder special materials such as electric blankets, pillows, plastic, sweaters, foundation garments, etc.?

Learn the answers at the Laundry Fair Friday, at the Livestock Show Coliseum. See exhibits 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Hear specialists from 1:30 p.m. till 3:30 p.m.

Homemakers meet numerous fiber families in selecting fabrics. Pictured above from left to right are Mrs. Max Norman of Rosston, Mrs. Frances Gilley, Mrs. Corrie Parish and Mrs. Gayla Polk of Hope, looking at some of the fabrics.

Man-made fiber families might include rayon, polyester, acrylic, nylon, modacrylic, acetate, triacetate, rubber, spandex, glass, metallics, saran, vinyl, nylril, olefin, vinyon, azlon and each appears under numerous trademarks. What are their characteristics? What are cues to their care?

Come to the Laundry Fair, Friday, May 17, and hear a clothing specialist give some practical guides and cues.

Recent fabric literature will be given homemakers attending the fair.
